DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Upon further review of the application and conducting an updated search, the indication of allowability has been reconsidered and is hereby withdrawn. Applicant's attention is directed to the Nakatami reference (US6038133) which would appear to disclose the main inventive concept of claim 1, namely incorporating a device into a substrate after having adhered a transfer sheet to the substrate but prior to removing the transfer sheet (see Fig. 2, for example). The remaining steps are deemed conventional, as it is well known to transfer patterns to substrates and to remove the transfer sheet by dissolving the release layer. Therefore, lack of unity exists between the dependent claims, as discussed below:

2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 4, drawn to a method comprising burying an insulating material in gaps in the pattern on a transfer sheet and flattening the surface of the transfer sheet such that the surfaces of the conductor pattern and the insulating material are substantially flush.

Group II, claim(s) 5, drawn to a method comprising applying an adhesive material over one surface of the insulating layer prior to the pattern transfer step, the adhesive material being subjected to the same void forming step as the insulating layer.

3. The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: see the above discussion regarding the Nakatami reference. Since the two groups do not have a common special technical feature, they are mutually exclusive

4. Note: the remaining claims will be examined together with the elected group, except as provided below in the election of species.

5. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species A: forming an adhesive resin between the metallic base and the dissolve metal layer

Species B: forming a heat foaming layer between the metallic base and the dissolve metal layer

In addition to electing one of groups I and II, Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

6. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species A: claim 24

Species B: claim 28

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 1 and 2 are deemed generic to species A and B.

7. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the species are mutually exclusive, as each is directed to a different type of material being provided between the metallic base and the dissolve metal layer.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

9. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
